Akers Plum

(Seed Treasures Description)
 This Roma type paste tomato was the absolute star in our garden this year. Not only was it early but Akers was also tremendously productive. I'm talking about picking two 8 quart buckets full at one time. From TWO plants!! Now that's a lot of scrumptious tomato paste right off the bat! If you have trouble getting Romas to ripen, try Akers and I don't think you'll be disappointed. Indeterminate.

Ernie's Nose

(Seed Treasures Description)
 Our friends from southern California, John and Mia, sent us seeds for this new favorite, long a favorite of theirs. Ernie's Nose does have a nose on the end, along with lots of old Italian paste flavor for all those sauces you want to make. This tomato is hugely productive all season long. We'll always grow this one!
